President Biden Releases Budget Request to Congress*Statement from BCSE President Lisa Jacobson*

“President Biden’s budget places climate change mitigation and energy resilience at its core. The provisions for energy sector investment, technology research, development and deployment and sustainable transportation build on successful policy tools that created today’s thriving American clean energy sector and brought power sector emissions down 50% since 2005. U.S. clean energy industries can deliver on President Biden’s goals and create well-paying American jobs. We call on Congress to move forward on appropriations in a bipartisan manner to accelerate the clean energy transformation.”
