Carlos Garcia, Head of Methane Markets, STX Group

Carlos Garcia is Head of Methane Markets at STX Group, where he leads policy and commercial strategy for global methane markets. He brings experience from Bloom Energy, Harvard, the City of Boston, and the New York City Environmental Justice Alliance, working at the intersection of environmental policy, energy markets, and environmental justice.

Carlos helps manage complex stakeholder relationships while bridging commercial execution with policy design to build new trading pathways that align environmental integrity with financial viability.
